COMPANY FOOTPRINTS

The company was founded by Ravi Kumar Chauhan. I began my dream in Travel & Tourism industry in 2011. The journey was quite challenging and hard to follow, since this industry has given me so much inspiration; when I used to spend the time with my father in our little shop at Agra - Fatehpur Sikri Road. I saw tourists visiting Agra and Fatehpur Sikri. Tourist guide & traveler used to come at my shop for beverages like Tea / Coffee, Lassi & snacks. They discussed their experience about the destinations and tourists.

Now Travel with RV has grown to a full service travel planning company with a focus on remarkable itineraries and tailored experiences. We pride ourselves on helping our travel partners from around the world discover the joy of travel through customized journeys for India & sub-continent. We provide our travel partners with high touch customer service and take the time to get to know them and what type of travel experience will make their trip be spectacular.

We are a small company with each of focusing on what we are passionate about including; customized itineraries to India, Nepal, Bhutan, Sri Lanka & Travel with RV special curated program Bharat Dekho (which is especially for domestic traveler) which make a perfect traveler choice. We welcome the opportunity to help you plan your next vacation.

SPIRITUALITY

Pilgrimage

India ●●●

You may worship a certain god or follow a certain religion, but when it comes to spirituality, no religion is different. Spiritualism comes from your soul, and the philosophies of every religion, no matter how different, will all help you reach out to your soul. India is a land of a countless number of religions, and pilgrimage sites are found vastly all across the country.

What better place than here if you're looking for a spiritual awakening? This is the country of extensive culture and deep religious beliefs. Pilgrimage sites in India are of major importance to the people of this country, and if you wish to return home with a fresh, awakened self, take a look at the few such pilgrimage sites you should visit.

Varanasi Virasat of India

A Place Where Men Follow In The Footsteps Of Gods

The "ghats" are easily Varanasi's premier attraction, and Manikarnika is probably the most famous of them all. For those who don't know, ghats are stairways leading down to the holy River Ganges, and are sites for Hindu rituals, including funerals. Manikarnika is special because it's the central location for Hindu cremations in Varanasi, and also because of the Charanpaduka - a stone said to feature the footprints of the god Vishnu. Spectators are permitted, but photography isn't, so be aware of that when you take your place in the galleries.

Nothing Holds A Candle To Dasawamedh's Aarti Ceremony

Another ghat that has to be visited is Dasawamedh. In this case, the attraction is spectacular. Every evening Hindu holy men take part in the Aarti ceremony of purification. With throngs of worshippers (and tourists) looking on, the river becomes a staggering light show, with candles and smoke, and the passionate chants of spectators combining to create a magical effect. It's a 45-minute long ceremony, and probably best seen from boats in mid-river.

Gharana In Varanasi

Trace the legacy of classical music with members of traditional home of musicians known as a "Gharana" in Varanasi, along with this we will visit the place where the famous Indian Epic "Ramcharitmanas was written.

A Golden Sightseeing Opportunity

Along with the ghats, Varanasi is also dotted with sublime Hindu temples. After all, Varnasi (or Kashi as Hindus call it) is known as the "giver of salvation", and is one of Hinduism's holiest cities. Kashi Vishwanath is the city's premier temple. Set back around a mile and half from the Ganges, it was built in 1776 by the ruler of Indore, but took on its current glorious appearance when 800 kilograms of gold was added to its dome in the mid 19th century. The interior can sometimes be tricky to access, yet it's worth the effort to see the stunning decorations, but expect plenty of company from pilgrims.

Journey Back To The Very Beginnings Of Buddhism

In a sense it feels strange to move from Varanasi's hotbed of Hindu fervor to Sarnath, which is a completely different experience. Located a few miles northeast of Varanasi itself, Sarnath is centered around Buddhism. Stories say that it's where Buddha first began to preach after attaining enlightenment, so it's a big deal. The spot where it all began is marked by the imposing Dhamekh Stupa, while the Chaukhandi Stupa remembers where his first group of followers got together. Don't miss the Sarnath Archaeological Museum either, which houses the famous Lion Capital of Ashoka.

BRIJ DARSHAN

Just 03 Hrs. drive from Delhi, on the banks of the river Yamuna, is situated the birthplace of Lord Krishna. The entire land is dotted with magnificent temples, dedicated to various aspects of his life. The twin cities of Mathura and Vrindavan, where he was born and where he grew up, still resound to the sound of his laughter, antics and his magical flute.

Gokul, Barsana and Goverdhan are the other township associated with the legend of Lord Krishna. Gokul is the hideout where Lord Krishna was secretly brought up- away from the eyes of his maternal uncle Kansa. His consort Radha belonged to Barsana, where the unique Holi festival Latthamar Holi is celebrated with great gusto. At Goverdhan, Krishna raised a mighty mountain on his little finger to protect the locals from the wrath of rain-god Indra.
